

COLOR N' LEARN SAFETY

www.KeepYourChildSafe.org

Most kids know to look both ways before crossing the street, but sometimes they forget-like when they're chasing after a pet. Don't chase that doggy! Your pet is important, but you're much more important. If they're going to get hit, you can't save them. The only thing that would happen is you'd get hit too! It's more likely your pet will run across safely and you'll get runner over-that's the way it usually happens. So don't chase that pet! Remember to stop at the edge of the road, watch where your pet goes, and then carefully cross or get an adult to help.
