

It's important for kids to never, ever swim alone. There always needs to be an adult around. There are just way too many things that could happen. Most kids who die end up drowning during times they went off on their own, even kids who knew how to swim. So whenever you're in the water, make sure there are plenty of adults nearby. That's what family is for!

