

At some point in your life you may be around a friend who wants to do something dangerous-like play with fire. It might be hard to do, but if this ever happens you need to stop playing with them IMMEDIATELY and go get an adult. This isn't tattle telling-it's being a good friend. You need to do it because you care about them. They are doing something dangerous that could kill them... and it could kill you too! You wouldn't be a very good friend if you DIDN'T find some way to stop them.
