

Sometimes bad things happen in our world. People are imperfect, and they make mistakes. Even adults can make mistakes and do hurtful things without realizing the consequences. Even people who love you dearly can make bad choices at times. Because of this, it's important that kids speak-up and let adults know if they are doing something that makes them feel bad. Can you do that?

