

If a dog has his head low, his ears pinned back, is growling or has his tail between his legs, it's usually a sign that the dog is upset. He or she may be sick, or they might be hurt. Either way, we stay away from this type of dog. Dogs that are sick or hurt or scared often bite, so even if you want to help it, it's best to keep our distance. Instead, find an adult to help with the dog...that's the safe thing to do.

COLOR N' LEARN SAFETY

www.keepyourchildsafesite.org

