If a stranger ever try’s to grab you, you should do whatever you can to get away, including pulling out of your clothing if it will help. It’s not a time to be shy or worry about your property. If a strange grabs your shirt and you can wiggle out of it to get away, do it. If a stranger grabs you by the backpack, pull out of it and let him have it. Scream, kick, bite, and do whatever else you can do to get away. Nobody will care if you lose your shirt, but tons will care if we lose you!
