

My Book Of

NEVER TO BE BROKEN RULES

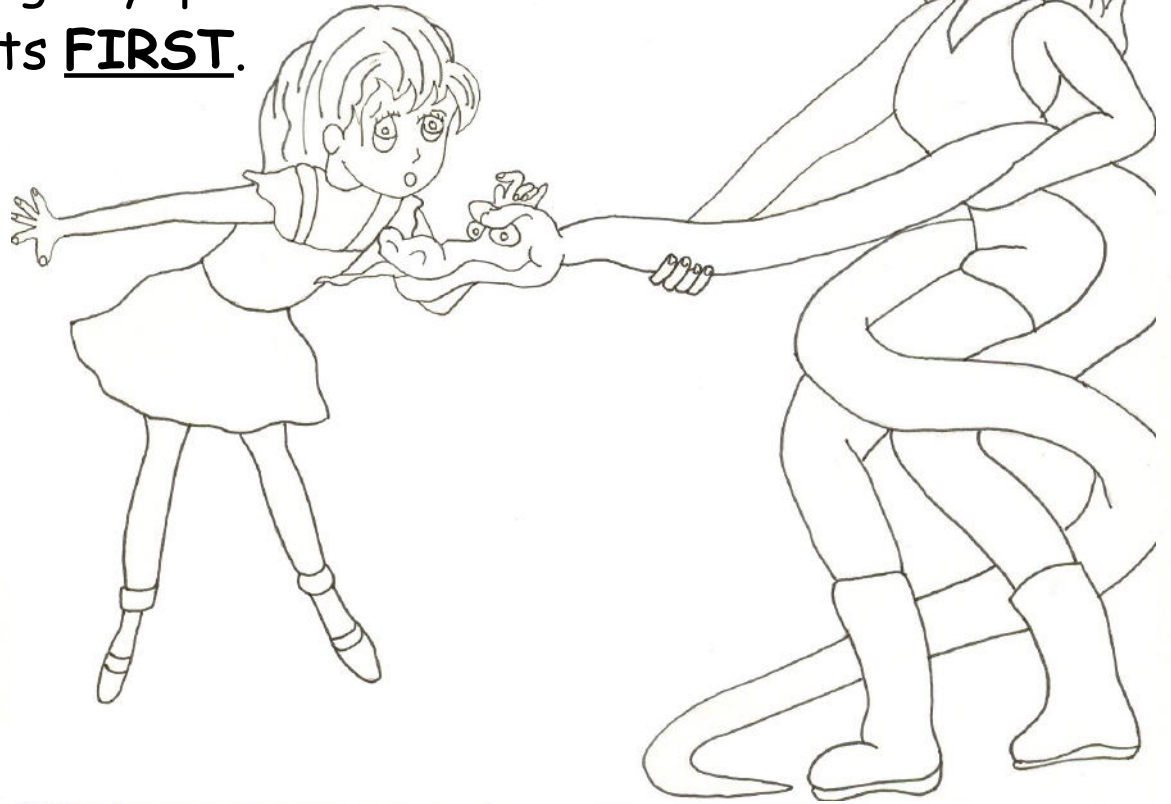

NAME:

There are rules all around me. But some rules are rules for my safety that I should never, ever break. No adult should ever ask me to break these rules.

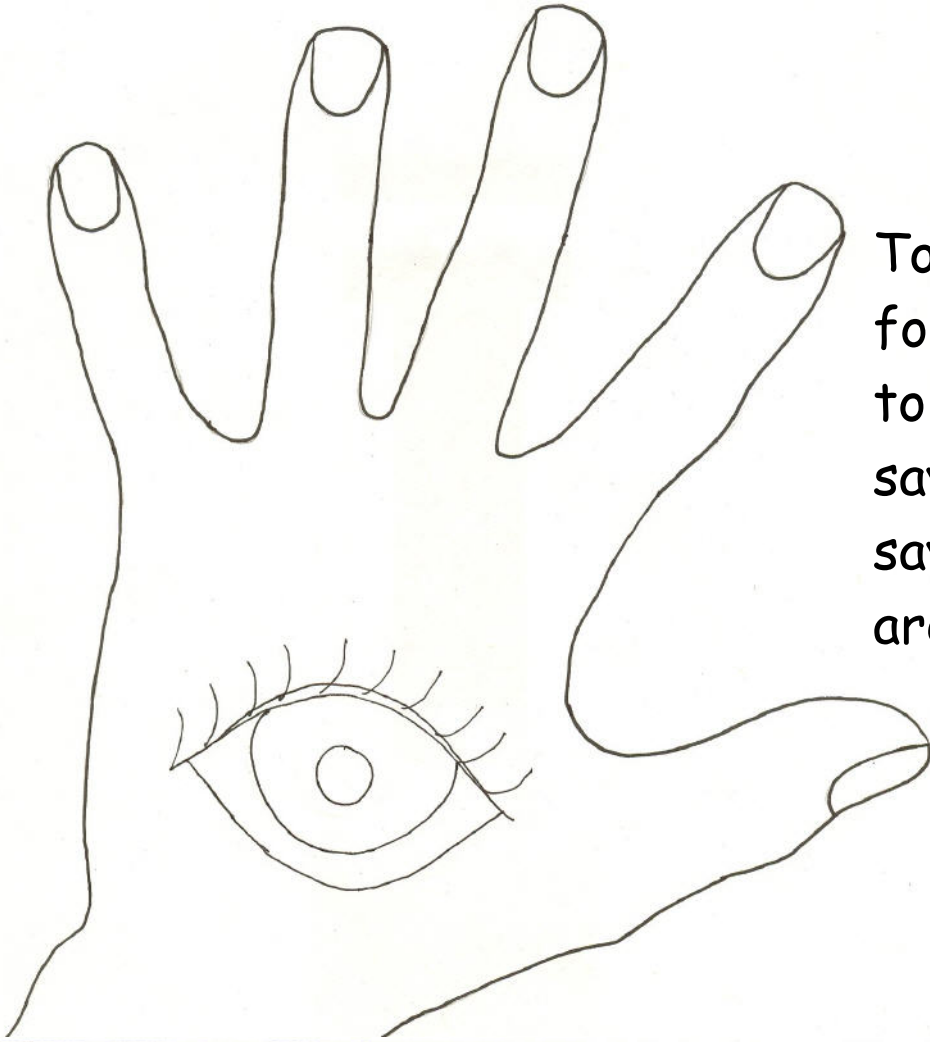

I should never do anything new or anything I'm not sure about without asking my parents or some other adults FIRST.

I should NEVER
Keep secrets from my mom or dad.

Touches are always for the whole world to see. I will never say yes if someone says their touches are secret.

I never take chances with anything which might hurt me.

Kids ONLY use their personal parts to go potty. Not for anything else.

And our last never to be broken rule, we only talk to strangers if our parents or another adult we are with is right beside us.
