

Something dangerous is happening in this picture. Can you tell what it is? There was a little girl once who died just like this. She was climbing on a chair to reach a pair of scissors that were on top of the fridge. The chair slipped out from underneath her, and she fell. The scissors she was holding stabbed her in the neck as she hit the floor. Let's make sure that never happens to you or anyone else around you! If you need something, don't risk it.
