

In the developed world, most of us get around by using cars. But many people in other parts of the world are too poor to have cars, or they might live in areas where there are no roads to drive them on. So they use other means of getting around. In many places, people use rivers like roads; highways through the wilderness that help them get from one place to another. This girl in Thailand is getting a ride with her father on a river barge made of wood and bamboo. It may take them a little longer to get where they're going, but every trip is a fun river rafting ride with wonderful views of nature! It just goes to show that there are many ways to live, and many situations that we can find happiness in.
